Winton RSP Teacher Honored

Teresita Pambuan, a Resource Support teacher at Winton Middle School, was recently honored by the Mid Alameda County SELPA Community Advisory Committee with an Excellence in Special Education Award. Mrs. Pambuan was nominated by some of the parents at Winton. According to parents, “Mrs. Pambuan goes above and beyond her classroom duties to insure that our children are receiving a quality education in a nurturing environment.” Many parents and students submitted information in support of Mrs. Pambuan. She is one of the four teachers selected to receive the annual award. Members of the HUSD Special Education Department, headed by Director Valeria Baugh, were on hand to present the award to Pambuan. In response to her recognition Mrs. Pambuan said, “I feel honored and would like to thank all of you for recognizing my contributions and hard work for our students education. Words can’t describe the way I am feeling now. I promise to always devote my fullest attention and services to special education and to bring students up to their maximum potential.”
